COAL STRIKE CRISIS AT HAND AS GOVERNMENT
ORDERS MINES OPENED

President's Mandate Declares Idle Mines Must Be Put In Operation Under Federal Protection
Immediately

Washington, July 18.—At a two-hour session of the cabinet today, devoted entirely to discussion of the grave industrial situation, it was decided that President Harding should address a communication to the governors of the 48 states of the union calling upon them to protect, by troops if necessary, the public interests which have been endangered by the twin rail and coal strikes.

Beyond the brief announcement from the White House following the cabinet meeting that such a communication is being prepared by President Harding, there was no further insight accorded to the administration's policy of having the coal mines reopened for production. The president's communication to the governors of the states will be made public tonight.

Washington, July 18.—While coal operators were scattering to their districts to reopen their idle mines under a mandate from the federal government with the assurance of protection that such a mandate implies, President Harding went into session with his cabinet to map out a complete program of government procedure.

That the long discussed show down and crisis is actually at hand, no one in Washington doubted today. The president has virtually ordered the coal mines of the country to reopen under a guarantee of protection of federal troops, if necessary to insure coal enough to keep the country from freezing next winter.

With the die cast in the coal strike, however, the allied strike of railway shopmen and its attendant interruption of transportation assumed paramount importance.

Government officials who would express an opinion freely admitted that unless the government is successful in its efforts to settle the railroad strike, the reopening of the mines will be fruitless accomplishment within a few weeks because there will be no cars to transport the coal once it is mined.

Even if the strike of railroad shopmen does not spread to other crafts—and it is believed it will spread, officials of the government and of the Unions privately admitted that it will

OF WOMAN SLAYER

Los Angeles, July 18.—"Smiling" Clara Phillips, alleged "hammer slayer" of pretty 20-year-old Alberta Meadows, was to be examined by a commission today which will report to the district attorney's office as to her sanity. If the report shows the woman who resorted to stone age tactics is sane her arraignment upon a murder charge will follow as soon as possible.

Mrs. Phillips was more cheerful than ever today following her first meeting with her husband in the county jail. They were united in a dramatic embrace and their first kiss would have gone well in a movie thriller.

A lengthy statement was issued today by attorneys for the alleged slayer asking the public to withhold its judgment until the defense side of the case had been presented.

CHARGES BIGAMY

Cincinnati, July 18.—Within an hour after Helen Cassimatis, 21, and Paschal Varne, 29, proprietor of a pool room in this city, crossed the river to Covington and were married last night, the girl's father swore out a warrant charging the bridegroom with bigamy. The elder Cassimatis, said his pseudo son in law had been married in Nestrin, Macedonia in 1913 and had not obtained a divorce. Varne was arrested and later released on $3,500 bond.

THIRTY FIREMEN HURT IN EXPLOSIONS
DURING FIVE ALARM FIRE IN NEW YORK

Six-Story Ware House Wrecked By Blasts—One Fire Fighter Dies Of Injuries—Many Hurt By Flying Debris.

New York, July 18.—Thirty firemen were hurt, one of them so seriously that he subsequently died, in two terrific explosions during a five alarm fire which wrecked the big six story warehouse of the Manhattan storage transit company, 245 West 12th street today.

A dozen or more residents of the neighborhood, the majority of them women, were hurt by flying debris from the blasts.

Early reports reaching police headquarters were that large quantities of smokeless powder, magnesium, potash, sulphur, and other chemicals, were stored in the building.

The injured firemen were all members of company No. 133. It was reported that they had been caught in the back draft of an explosion on the ground floor of the building.

"Smoky Joe" Martin, acting chief of the New York City fire department, was injured by being blown through a door while personally directing his men. He was treated by an ambulance surgeon and then went back into the building to continue his work. There were a number of blasts.

Some of the firemen were burned about the face and hands; others were lacerated on the body by flying debris while others were struck by fragments of flying coping.

SCENE OF FIGHTING
IN WEST VIRGINIA
NOW REPORTED QUIET

Staubenville, O., July 18.—Cliftonville, W. Va., where four are known to have been shot to death and possibly several others are dead in the ruins of the McKinley mine tipples, was quiet today. With forty five prisoners already taken by Brooke County deputies, deputy sheriffs are scouring the country armed with warrants for the arrest of 200 others. Their search has been extended to the Pennsylvania border. The situation in Brooke county is tense as prisoners are being captured hourly. Authorities all night feared an attack on the Brooke county jail, at Wellsburg, where twenty eight of the captured miners are held and a large guard was held in readiness but the night passed quietly.

OHIO APPLE CROP
ONLY 45 PER CENT

Columbus, July 18.—Ohio's apple crop will be but 40 per cent to 45 per cent and the peach crop but 60 per cent, to 70 per cent, of full normal crops this year, according to estimates prepared by Statistician C. J. West, Columbus, of the state federal crop reporting service.

Late frosts tended to reduce total returns in both apple and peach crops throughout the state, according to Mr. West. Neglected apple orchards, suffered heavily from scab and scale, while dry weather and leaf curl were prevalent in peach orchards, his report shows.

An extremely small crop of some beauty variety of apples is reported to West by orchardists from all parts of the state.

OBSTRUCTED JUSTICE.

Cincinnati, July 18.—Because he refused to give the names of six other men who were with him in a car said to have figured in an attack on two guards, at the Louisville and Nashville shops on Friday night, C. H. Harmeling, 25, Sandfordtown, Ky., was sent to jail Monday by U. S. Attorney Sawyer Smith on a charge of obstructing justice. The attorney said he would be released whenever he made up his mind to disclose the name of his companions on the night in question.

SECRET PARLEYS
MARK ACTION IN RAILWAY STRIKE

Indications Are That Walkout is Rapidly Reaching a Climax

SETTLEMENT IS NEAR

Officials Decline to Confirm Reports That Definite Plan Evolved

Chicago, July 18.—The strike of railroad shopmen was believed today to be moving swiftly toward a climax as the result of secret parleys held here during the last twenty-four hours. Conferences from which a plan of settlement is expected to emerge are still in progress, according to authentic reports.

Officials of the United States, Railroad Labor Board and of the shopmen's union declined to confirm reports that a definite peace plan had been evolved. Persistent reports that a settlement appeared closer than at any time since the walkout began, however, were denied.

According to these reports the plan involves an agreement by the railroads to restore all seniority rights to the strikers and to abolish the practice of "farming out" shop work to shops not owned by the railroads. The unions, for their part, will agree to an immediate return to work with the assurance that a rehearing on the question of reduced wage scales be granted.

It is understood that conferences between W. L. McMenimen, labor member of the board and Bert M. Jewell, leader of the strikers, have established this tentative basis for all agreement. McMenimen and Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the board, also are understood to have held parleys with the railroad executives.

The opinion is prevalent that the labor board having brought prospects of an agreement appreciably nearer by the series of conferences that have been held, soon will call a formal public hearing of the rail executives and the union chiefs at which it is hoped a final settlement will be effected.

E. F. Grable, president of the brotherhood of maintenance of way employees, was in Chicago today, fresh from Washington where he had a conference with President Harding. Grable was scheduled to confer today with members of the labor board. Strike sentiment in his organization is reported to be growing but Grable declared no authorized strike action would be taken until after the meeting of the brotherhood's grand lodge in Detroit Thursday. Grable denied that the "runaway" strike of maintenance of way men had assumed serious proportions although he admitted that several thousand members of the union had joined the walkout of the shopmen.

Strike ballots were received today by several thousand clerks and freight handlers of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. The ballots, according to E. R. Kinney, general chairman of the clerks, deal with the wage question only. A committee representing clerks of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad was to confer today with railway officials in an effort to adjust differences, that led to a favorable strike ballot by the clerks.

Forecasts that thousands of men would join in the strike yesterday were not fulfilled, according to reports here. While about 15,000 stationary firemen and others struck in compliance with authorization granted by Timothy Healy, president of their union, no general unauthorized walkout of maintenance of way men occurred. Less than two thousand members of the track men, it is estimated went out and most of these were on eastern roads.

A special train transporting non union workers to the Baltimore and Ohio shops here were fired on last night by five men in an automobile but none was hit.

HARDING TO ACCEPT
DOVER RESIGNATION

Washington, July 18.—The resignation of Elmer Dover, assistant secretary of the treasury, will be accepted by President Harding, it was learned at the White House this afternoon. Dover was the stormy petrel of the most serious patronage row that has yet occurred in the Harding administration, involving the shake up of many of the bureaus in the treasury department.

The coal and railroad strikes here have prevented President Harding from giving Dover's resignation full consideration. It was said Dover was dissatisfied with the policies of the treasury department, this dissatisfaction leading to his resignation.

Spring Valley Minister Pleads Guilty to Charge of Desertion Before Probate Judge and is Sent to Work House for a Year.

"IN DEEP CONTRITION FOR MY SIN"

Pastor Makes Statement to Court Telling of Hardships and Says He Feels Act Intensely—Will Bring Back Wife's Love

While his sobs filled the court room where a large crowd of spectators, including many Spring Valley people was present, the Rev. W. W. Culp, 34, former Spring Valley circuit rider, who deserted his wife and nine children, June 14, to alone with Esther Hughes, 18 year old music teacher, entered a plea of guilty to the affidavit charging desertion. Tuesday morning, and was sentenced to serve one year in the Dayton Work House and to pay a fine of $500 and costs by Probate Judge Carl Marshall.

Culp, who arrived here at 5:05 o'clock Monday evening from Dayton, on the last leg of his journey from Port Huron, Mich., with Probation Officer J. E. Watts, was taken from the county jail where he was confined during the night and arraigned at ten o'clock. As the affidavit was read to him he broke down and wept pitifully so that he had to be taken into an inner room until he had composed himself sufficiently to talk.

The minister was then allowed to make his statement. "He said in part: 'I realize at this bar of justice, authorized by the laws of God, that I have not only broken the civil laws of the community but pre-eminently the laws of God. I am in deep contrition for my sin. I feel it intensely. I don't know why my life should have gone this way. Everyone knows my story. I didn't have the home most boys had. I was sent away among strangers when I was young and for seven long years I suffered from homesickness until at the age of 18, I returned home to my mother whom I loved. 'At the advice of my father I married when I was 18 years old. Love didn't follow but I stuck to it, especially after the children came. I prayed for my wife to become converted and only the grace of God helped me though I am not blaming her, however, I am not her to attack any particular blame to her this morning. I defended her against the reports that she was ignorant and not bright, but everywhere I went reports followed. I was discouraged many a time, until Esther Hughes came into my life four years ago. She was an encouragement to me. My wife loved her at one time. My wife noticed my affection for the girl and ordered us to go. The rest you know. I feel sorry but the thing has happened I don't know the penalty but I know what I'd like to do if I had the chance. This morning I was shown a photograph of my children and I thought they were sweeter to me than anything else in the world. I got a glance at my wife's face last evening and I thought she never looked better to me. 'However, I'd rather die in prison than to hell for eternity. Many souls living in sin may end there though they don't land in court. I am willing to prove to the world that I'm a true man-they I didn't mean it as bad as it was. It seems like a cold world now. Even my mother said that I should be in prison and has turned me down. My wife would be grief-stricken I know if I was sent to prison. Her love for me is true. I'll try to bring this love back if given a chance. My name however, is gone. Whether I go to prison or what becomes of me I'll do everything I can to help humanity and warn it against the pitfalls.'

The statement of Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson, following that of Culp, was brief. "This man asked his wife to go down in the shadows of the valley of death nine times to bear him children and then says he does not love her. Never before in my career as prosecutor have I asked for the extreme penalty of the law but I do so in this case," he said.

Judge Marshall scored Culp severely for his act in passing sentence upon him. "It doesn't matter what we do in this world, there are disagreeable features about everything," began the Court. "You claim to have had yours. That is what they all say when they face me. I've never had one fail since I've been in office and we go far and near to get men for desertion and non-support."

"Some may say if I send you to the work house that I am preventing you from keeping your children. But the crime demands punishment. You ought to be the last man on earth to ever say anything about that woman who is your wife. You married her for better or worse. She gave you nine fine children. That wife of yours by her conduct, and example has done far more good in the community than you have. There is more than one way to preach the gospel. She was the one who really preached the gospel down there in Spring Valley by her daily conduct and by the care of your children. A man can preach the gospel in any vocation, it depends on whether God is in his heart. "Your pleas and excuses are those that come from every perverted mind and sinful heart. It would be unjust to pass sentence on you and then suspend it. Those children will not suffer while I'm here and while the good people of Spring Valley remain. That is what you should have thought about before. Just because the Hughes girl knew more about the Bible than your wife does not mean that she practiced its teachings as well as your wife. You have a persuasive personality—you influenced her against her better judgment. If you had the love of God in your heart, as you claim to have, you would have stuck to your wife and paid no improper attentions to this girl. Anybody can be good if there is no temptation—the test is to overcome temptation. "I don't see how you could leave that wife and children as you did When you started the engine of you automobile the children cried. Why didn't you think before you left. I hope it isn't too late now. There has been too much of this thing lately and the way to stop it is to put the penalty on. Your wife loved you all of the time. She knew where you were all the time but was afraid to tell. I believe this is one case where the maximum penalty should be indicted. You deliberately planned and premeditated this affair and were brazen enough to tell your wife you were going."

If Culp is unable to pay the fine of $500 and costs, he will have to work out the fine at the rate of 60 cents a day in the Dayton Work House at the expiration of his one-year term. The sentence to the work house means that the family will re-

GETS SERVICES OF
OHIO FUEL SUPPLY

Jeffersonville is now included among new villages to be added to the services of the Ohio Fuel Supply Company, it is announced. In making plans for furnishing Jamestown with gas similar service can also be supplied Jeffersonville by running an auxiliary main from the company's feed line, three and one-half miles north of that village. R. W. Irwin, manager of the Xenia branch of the company, is conducting negotiations for the company with the Jeffersonville council. A survey of that village shows there are 240 residences and 49 business houses, all of which would probably use gas. The village is located in Fayette County between Jamestown and Washington, C. H.

GUARD EQUIPMENT NOW MOBOLIZED

Chicago, Ill., July 18.—The 202nd artillery anti-aircraft equipment of the Illinois National guard, was ordered mobilized here today.

Orders for the mobilization, it was said, came directly from Gov. Len Small, through the office of the adjutant general. No announcement as to the purpose of the mobilization was made, but it was understood that the rail strike situation at Bloomington was responsible.

Mrs. Sarah Kelso Bailey and daughter, Miss Emily, of Dayton are spending a week here visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bailey of East Market St., and with other relatives.

They will go from here to Montreal and will sail August 2 on the Minnedosa for Europe.

They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross nee Miss Helen Bailey, and will spend two months touring the continent. Mr. and Mrs. Ross will then return home and Miss Bailey and Miss Emily will go to Paris where they expect to spend a year. While there Miss Emily will take a special course in French and other studies.

If you had the love of God in your heart, as you claim to have, you would have stuck to your wife and paid no improper attentions to this girl. Anybody can be good if there is no temptation—the test is to overcome temptation.

"I don't see how you could leave that wife and children as you did when you started the engine of you automobile the children cried. Why didn't you think before you left. I hope it isn't too late now. There has been too much of this thing lately and the way to stop it is to put the penalty on. Your wife loved you all of the time. She knew where you were all the time but was afraid to tell. I believe this is one case where the maximum penalty should be indicated. You deliberately planned and premeditated this affair and were brazen enough to tell your wife you were going."

If Culp is unable to pay the fine of $500 and costs, he will have to work out the fine at the rate of 60 cents a day in the Dayton Work House at the expiration of his one year term. The sentence to the work house means that the family will remain in the city.

GETS SERVICES OF OHIO FUEL SUPPLY

Jeffersonville is now included among new villages to be added to the services of the Ohio Fuel Supply Company, it is announced.

In making plans for furnishing Jamestown with gas similar service can also be supplied Jeffersonville by running an auxiliary main from the company's feed line, three and one-half miles north of that village.

R. W. Irwin, manager of the Xenia branch of the company, is conducting negotiations for the company with the Jeffersonville council. A survey of that village shows there are 240 residences and 49 business houses, all of which would probably use gas. The village is located in Fayette County between Jamestown and Washington, C. H.

ed steel—sturdy, rugged, and rigid. The six sheet copper oscillating tub is scientifically corrugated to create vigorous agitation and to insure a washing action that is rapid and thorough though carefully gentle.

The aluminum wringer locks into four positions; it is equipped with a simple lever which does away with thumb screws, which insures even pressure across the rolls, and which acts as an instant safety release. All gears run enclosed in grease. The motor is oversize, self lubricating, water-proof, and cooled by forced draught.

So ably designed is the Sunnysuds that it is practically noiseless. Although the Sunnysuds is a six sheet washer, it occupies but little space. Although it is compact enough to fit into the smallest kitchens, it can complete the largest family wash with surprising speed and certain satisfaction.

NAME COMMITTEE TO ASSIST GRUBE IN EPIDEMIC HERE

Dr. R. Kent Finley, Dr. A. C. Messenger and Dr. B. R. McClellan were appointed members of an unofficial committee of physicians to assist and advise Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Commissioner at a meeting of representatives of various civic organizations Tuesday afternoon. The appointment was the result of urgent suggestions that some action in the typhoid epidemic be taken at once. The committee appointment was the outstanding action in the meeting called to meet City Manager S. O. Hale in the commission chamber Tuesday afternoon. Following an explanation of the situation so far by the city manager, in which he gave details of the actions so far taken by city and health officials, the meeting evolved into an open forum, during which committee members present gave their personal views of the situation and made recommendations that might be carried out to prevent the spread of the disease.

Developments at the meeting included the recommendations of Dr. R. K. Finley that pending a solution of the cause of the epidemic that water and milk should be boiled, vaults, cess pools and garbage dumps and other fly-breeding places be cleaned up and regular inspection of milk and dairies and the remarks of Dr. H. C. Messenger that a crisis should be declared out the disease, including daily an even more often bacteria counts of Xenia milk. The cleaning up of outside vaults and other fly-breeding spots was also given attention. Dr. Grube, called into the meeting, rendered an opinion in which he said he believed open vaults and germ-carrying flies are to blame for the epidemic. The committee of doctors to assist the health commissioner was appointed on the motion of Rev. E. W. Middleton pastor of the First Reformed Church.

LABOR WARNS OF THE "MAILED FIST"

Washington, July 18.—Union labor notified President Harding and his cabinet today that the use of the "mailed fist" will avail the administration nothing in settling the industrial war.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor speaking for the organized labor in the county, served warning on the president that:

"This is neither the hour nor the scene for the man on horseback. The great need of the hour is for normal, natural conference between interested parties.

"When a half million men are aggrieved it is a poor time indeed for the roll of drums, the rattling of sabres and the pounding of the mailed fist."

ELECTED LIFE MEMBER

Local friends of Matthew C. Fleming, a former Xenian, who is now a prominent New York attorney, will be interested in the following items from the Princeton University Alumni Weekly.

"The trustees of the University, at their commencement meeting, did a good job in electing Matthew C. Fleming '86 of New York as a life member of the board. With marked ability and fidelity, Mr. Fleming has served for two terms as an Alumni Trustee; during these ten years he has been known as one of the most useful members of the Board and the University is to be congratulated upon his graduation into the permanent membership of its governing body."

PLANS ARE LAID FOR C. OF C. PICNIC

All plans are laid for the annual Chamber of Commerce Community Picnic which will be staged at Kil Kare Park Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The picnic will start at three o'clock when the lengthy program of events prepared by the stung committee, will get under way.

Members of the committees say that interest in the annual affair, which was started two years ago, is above normal and that the largest crowd in the history of the annual picnic is expected. The attendance is not limited to Chamber of Commerce membership as everyone in the city is invited.

Picnickers will bring their own lunch pails and coffee and ice cream will be served free by the committee. There will be dancing also afternoon and night.

FORMAL PROBE INTO MINE WAR STARTS

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 18.—In the court house this morning the formal probe into the mine war at Cliftonville, Brooks County, in which Sheriff H. H. Duvall and 3 miners met their death was begun by Coroner J. B. Walkinshaw.

The inquest is expected to be an exhaustive one and will be preliminary to a grand jury investigation to be held as soon as a judge is available.

Last night a detail of state troops from Keyser, W. Va., arrived and were taken by auto to Cliftonville, where all is quiet. The situation is not regarded as threatening today.

NEWARK ADOPTS EASTERN TIME FOR YEAR ROUND

Newark, O., July 18.—The city council at its session last night passed legislation permanently adopting eastern time the year round, instructed the director of service to enter the commercial electric light, power and fuel field, and arranged for a special meeting to be held Wednesday morning to consider the adoption of a resolution prohibiting imported strike-breakers from being on the streets of the city, and discussed the problem of equalizing the rights of electric lines and auto buses in the city.

BACTERIAL COUNT OF XENIA MILK GIVEN BY GRUBE

"The laboratory report on the milk samples submitted for examination last Friday was received Monday," said Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Commissioner Tuesday morning. The counts were 1,800,000, 1,700,000, 800,000 and one pasteurized specimen free from bacteria," said Dr. Grube who continued:

"High bacterial count does not necessarily mean impure or unclean milk but indicates faulty methods of handling. All milk when drawn contains some bacteria. If the milk is placed in a temperature of 70 degrees or over they multiply with enormous rapidity and in a few hours the count may rise into the millions. If the milk should be drawn under the most filthy conditions and quickly cooled to 50 degrees or less and held there the count would be low even at the end of 24 hours.

"The milk consumed in Xenia is produced on farms where but a few cows are kept at each place. From these farms it is brought as soon as possible to the distributor's plant where it is cooled or pasteurized, the latter process consisting of heating the milk to 160 degrees for 20 minutes then bottled and cooled to 55 degrees.

"When the bottled milk is left at the consumer's door it should be taken in as soon as possible and placed in the coolest place available. If ice is not available then the bottle should be placed in the coldest water at hand. Milk bottles should never be left standing open so flies can enter them.

"Every effort possible will be made to improve the milk supply of Xenia and the methods of handling it, but with the delivery of the milk at the consumer's door the milkman's responsibility ceases and the consumer's duty, do their part to properly care for it.

"The assertion that milk furnished to Xenia has been 'filthy' is a gross injustice to the farmers who are producing the milk and the distributors who handle it. These men are honest citizens and would no more think of dispensing unfit milk than they would decayed meat or other food stuffs.

"One of the best tests of the purity of a public milk supply is its effect on the young children who use it. The infant death rate in Xenia last year as 77 which compares favorably with that of any city. So far this year there has not been a single death of a child from enteric trouble. Recent inquiry among the physicians of the city elicited the fact that there has been very little enteric trouble among the children."

COAL RATIONING NOW IS ASSURED

Washington, July 18.—Coal rationing this winter, similar to that experienced during the war period, already is virtually assured, according to opinions expressed today in government circles.

Even should coal mining be resumed at once which is admittedly out of the question a high official of the administration asserted that priority orders will have to be established in order to protect the northwest and possibly New England states.

WORD OF DEATH RECEIVED IN XENIA ON TUESDAY

EAST END NEWS

In sad and loving memory of our dear sister, Anna Johnson, who departed this life July 18, 1921. This day brings sad memories. Or one who was called to rest. Those who think of you today, Are those who loved you best.

We often sit and think of you, When we are all alone, For memory is the only friend That grief can call its own.

Friends may think you are forgotten, But the wound is fresh today, As when you left us broken hearted, Just a year ago today.

The month of July is here again, The saddest of the year, It took our dear sister away From all her earthly care.

Don't ask us if we miss her, Oh, there is such a vacant place, We often think we hear her voice, And see her smiling face.

You are gone but not forgotten, Nor shall you ever be, As long as life and memory last, We shall remember thee.

If I had seen you at the last, And held your dying hand, And heard the last sigh from your heart, I would not have felt so bad.

I did not know the pain you had, I did not see you die, I only know you went away, And never said Goodbye.

Sadly missed by sisters and brother, Lottie Hoard, Alice Armstrong, Emma Middleton and James Savage.

Master Robert Shoecraft is visiting.

GOVERNMENT BUYS TIRES FOR EMERGENCY

Washington, July 18.—More than $200,000 worth of tires have been purchased by the government for use "in the event it becomes necessary to substitute automobile trucks in the transportation of mails as a result of the rail strike," the postoffice department announced today. The tires were purchased, officials said, as a matter of preparation and economy. They are being distributed over a wide area to afford protection to all sections should it become necessary to resort to motor trucks to keep the mails moving.

NAME COMMITTEE TO ASSIST GRUBE IN EPIDEMIC HERE

Dr. R. Kent Finley, Dr. A. C. Messenger and Dr. B. R. McClellan were appointed members of an unofficial committee of physicians to assist and advise Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Commissioner at a meeting of representatives of various civic organizations Tuesday afternoon. The appointment was the result of urgent suggestions that some action in the typhoid epidemic be taken at once.

The committee's appointment was the outstanding action in the meeting called to meet City Manager S. O. Hale in the commission chamber Tuesday afternoon. Following an explanation of the situation so far by the city manager, in which he gave details of the actions so far taken by city and health officials, the meeting evolved into an open forum, during which committee members present gave their personal views of the situation and made recommendations that might be carried out, to prevent the spread of the disease.

Developments at the meeting included the recommendations of Dr. R. K. Finley that pending a solution of the cause of the epidemic that water and milk should be boiled, vaults, cess pools and garbage dumps and other fly-breeding places be cleaned up and regular inspection of milk and dairies and the remarks of Dr. H. C. Messenger that a crisis should be declared and every effort made to stamp out the disease, including daily an even more often bacteria counts of Xenia milk.

The cleaning up of outside vaults and other fly-breeding spots was also given attention. Dr. Grube, called into the meeting, rendered an opinion in which he said he believed open vaults and germ-carrying flies are to blame for the epidemic. The committee of doctors to assist the health commissioner was appointed on the motion of Rev. E. W. Middleton pastor of the First Reformed Church.

LABOR WARNS OF THE "MAILED FIST"

Washington, July 18.—Union labor notified President Harding and his cabinet today that the use of the "mailed fist" will avail the administration nothing in settling the industrial war.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor speaking for the organized labor in the county, served warning on the president that:

"This is neither the hour nor the scene for the man on horseback. The great need of the hour is for normal, natural conference between interested parties.

ELECTED LIFE MEMBER

Local friends of Matthew C. Fleming, a former Xenian, who is now a prominent New York attorney, will be interested in the following items from the Princeton University Alumni Weekly.

"The trustees of the University, at their commencement meeting, did a good job in electing Matthew C. Fleming '86 of New York as a life member of the board. With marked ability and fidelity, Mr. Fleming has served for two terms as an Alumni Trustee; during these ten years he has been known as one of the most useful members of the Board and the University is to be congratulated upon his graduation into the permanent membership of its governing body."

PLANS ARE LAID FOR C. OF C. PICNIC

All plans are laid for the annual Chamber of Commerce Community Picnic which will be staged at Kil Kare Park Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The picnic will start at three o'clock when the lengthy program of events prepared by the stunts committee, will get under way.

Members of the committees say that interest in the annual affair, which was started two years ago, is above normal and that the largest crowd in the history of the annual picnic is expected. The attendance is not limited to Chamber of Commerce membership as everyone in the city is invited.

Picnickers will bring their own lunches and coffee and ice cream will be served free by the committee. There will be dancing also afternoon and night.

FORMAL PROBE INTO MINE WAR STARTS

Wellsburg, W. Va., July 18.—In the court house this morning the formal probe into the mine war at Cliftonville, Brooks County, in which Sheriff H. H. Duval and 3 miners met their death was begun by Coroner J. B. Walkinshaw.

The inquest is expected to be an exhaustive one and will be preliminary to a grand jury investigation to be held as soon as a judge is available.

Last night a detail of state troops from Keyser, W. Va., arrived and were taken by auto to Cliftonville, where all is quiet. The situation is not regarded as threatening today.

NEWARK ADOPTS EASTERN TIME FOR YEAR ROUND

Newark, O., July 18.—The city council at its session last night passed legislation permanently adopting eastern time the year round, instructed the director of service to enter the commercial electric light, power and fuel field, and arranged for a special meeting to be held Wednesday morning to consider the adoption of a resolution prohibiting imported strike-breakers from being on the streets of the city, and discussed the problem of equalizing the rights of electric lines and auto buses in the city.

BACTERIAL COUNT OF XENIA MILK GIVEN BY GRUBE

"The laboratory report on the milk samples submitted for examination last Friday was received Monday," said Dr. R. H. Grube, City Health Commissioner Tuesday morning. The counts were 1,800,000, 1,700,000, 800,000 and one pasteurized specimen free from bacteria," said Dr. Grube who continued:

"High bacterial count does not necessarily mean impure or unclean milk but indicates faulty methods of handling. All milk when drawn contains some bacteria. If the milk is placed in a temperature of 70 degrees or over they multiply with enormous rapidity and in a few hours the count may rise into the millions. If the milk should be drawn under the most filthy conditions and quickly cooled to 50 degrees or less and held there the count would be low even at the end of 24 hours.

"The milk consumed in Xenia is produced on farms where but a few cows are kept at each place. From these farms it is brought, as soon as possible to the distributor's plant where it is cooled or pasteurized, the latter process consisting of heating the milk to 160 degrees for 30 minutes then bottled and cooled to 55 degrees.

"When the bottled milk is left at the consumer's door it should be taken in as soon as possible and placed in the coolest place available. If ice is not available then the bottle should be placed in the coldest water at hand. Milk bottles should never be left standing open so flies can enter them.

"Every effort possible will be made to improve the milk supply of Xenia and the methods of handling it, but with the delivery of the milk at the consumer's door the milkman's responsibility ceases and the consumer's must do their part to properly care for it.

"The assertion that milk furnished to Xenia has been 'filthy' is a gross injustice to the farmers who are producing the milk and the distributors who handle it. These men are honest citizens and would no more think of dispensing unfit milk than they would decayed meat or other food stuffs.

"One of the best tests of the purity of a public milk supply is its effect on the young children who use it. The infant death rate in Xenia

GERMANY HALTS DEGREE PEDDLERS.

German authorities are getting busy to break up the American diploma mill business in Germany.

Proceedings have been started against "Professor" Friedrich Weber Robine, a member of the triumvirate of the Oriental representatives in Berlin, who accepted and "examined" candidates for degrees, and who derived his own title from the Oriental University last August.

For illegally using the title of professor Weber, who was the founder of the Occultist University, of Berlin, and who was entangled in the suicide of one of his female neophytes, has long been under the eyes of the police. Other proceedings, alleging fraud, are pending against him. This correspondent was notified and called as a witness.

Another of Dr. Holler's representatives carried on Oriental's 1921 prospectus is "Professor Doctor" Mistelsky, a notorious Nature healer, who was compelled by the courts to drop the titles from his business cards. He, too, has many fraud cases pending against him. Dr. Seifert, president of the Berlin Physicians' Association told your correspondent it took him seven years to get action against Mistelsky.

AMERICAN NEWS ABROAD.

There is little or no American news of value in the Old World newspapers. The European idea of American news worth printing runs to sensations, mobs, lynchings, Fatty Arbuckle cases and occasional catastrophes. To anything, in short, that feeds the Old World impression that, after all, this country is semi-barbaric.

To any one familiar with the character and contents of the saner journals in this country and Europe it long has been plain that Americans are getting more understandable news of Europe than Europe is getting of America.

Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, has become our supporter and champion. Back in England he tells the British they had best learn something of America before they sit in judgment on us. He asks the Britons if they can do something that will influence their newspapers to give more sane, correct and understanding American news so England may have an accurate picture of America day by day. His hardest jolt to British complacency must have been this:

"I say American newspapers are publishing more understandable news of what England is doing than any newspaper on this side of the Atlantic."

This in London, mark you, and not far from Fleet street and to an audience more than half British! Here was something more than a compliment to the American press. Here is a rap across the knuckles for Old World journalism that may get results. Americans reading American newspapers have the opportunity of knowing more about English affairs than the Briton who relies upon his own press. The Englishman who relies upon his own papers has no chance to know what America is doing or thinking.

BALDWIN'S RECEIVES $1,000,000 CONTRACT.

Officials of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, anticipating a big rush of orders for new railroad equipment and repair work, are planning the reopening or increasing operations of several departments.

Increased operating capacity is made necessary by orders from railroads for new locomotives to handle the volume of freight that is expected to start moving with a settlement of the coal and rail strikes. The strike of the railroad shopmen also has brought some repair work.

The latest order was received by Baldwins when the Reading Company signed a contract for twenty-five Mallet type locomotives. Each engine will cost about $37,500, or approximately $1,000,000 for the entire contract.

First delivery will be made within six months. This week the company also received orders for thirty-five engines from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and a contract to repair twenty-five engines for the same road and one for the repair of fifty locomotives for the New York Central.

It is pointed out that the action of the American Federation of Labor in ordering union men not to do railroad repair work in private shops will work out to the advantage of Baldwins.

HELPING LAW ENFORCEMENT.

An event remarkable in the annals of automobile traffic occurred in an eastern city the other day. When a reckless automobile dished along the street at the rate of 50 miles an hour, and a watchful motorcycle traffic policeman took after him, almost every car in sight followed suit. Soon the chase became a long procession, all rushing through the crowded thoroughfares and around corners at risk of their lives and everybody else's, in a frenzied effort to help that solitary officer apprehend the offender.

When the law-breaker, after a long chase, was finally crowded into the curb and arrested at the point of the policeman's revolver, 20 motorists swarmed out of their cars armed with wrenches and hammers, to make sure that there would be no escape, and offering their names as witnesses. And some of them shouted, "Lynch him!"

Those pursuing drivers really did more harm than good, as far as the case in hand was concerned. They thoroughly disorganized traffic for a couple of miles, and some of them were arrested themselves for breaking the speed law.

DO YOU KNOW?

The most valuable building in New York city is the Equitable Building, which has a value of $30,000,000.

It is expected that the United States customs receipts this year will break all records, amounting to $340,000,000.

There is said to be more wealth per capita in the city of Montecito Calif., than in any other settlement in the world.

Hudson River Valley farmers are using the radiophone to obtain market reports quickly as guides on pricing their truck.

MEANWHILE THE PUBLIC SHOULD KEEP COOL

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

Mass meetings will be held at Harveysburg, Tuesday, both during day and night, to consider the question of the Ohio Southern railroad entering that village. The road now has its terminus at Kingman, four miles distant and the prospect is it will be extended to Harveysburg as the route is already surveyed and graded to that point.

Mr. James McCann has made an addition to his automobile by having a buggy top added. He is thus shielded from the sun on his spins through the country and automobilism is made much more pleasant.

Mr. J. C. Williamson and Mr. C. S. Frazer will be among those who will take their departure tonight for Niagara Falls.

Mr. Clinton Hook, who resides east of this city, has one of the finest crops of wheat in this section. We understand that this crop yielded about 41 bushels to the acre.

OTHERS
What a word this anyway—others. What would you do, what would I do without—others?

Nothing that we attain is worth the striving unless it is made a part of the general scheme of others. Try to get along without others in any way, and see what happens.

No one has a taste of real happiness until he has served, until he has given something away until he has felt the rebounding appreciation of others.

Even the birds and animals understand. You rarely see them alone. They must have their kind with them. None of us are self-made. We are all others-made.

I have had an opportunity of watching many workmen of late. I note that they work together, that they each depend upon the other—and at lunch time they do not draw away separately but all get together for a wonderful time over their sandwiches.

When an organization becomes exceedingly perfect, they talk of it as a "machine", even though it is made up of human beings. And that is because each man or woman works in accord, as one wheel meshes with another.

One of my favorite lines is one I found somewhere when a boy and it has inspired me over many years. Here it is: "He climbs highest who helps another up!"

Only as we truly feel the touch of others as we go along are we able to understand what is really back of happiness, for there can be no honest happiness apart from others.

So if you want to be happy, begin by thinking of others—then start doing something for others.

dent's party was to arrive, which was at 11 o'clock until they departed the business houses be closed up.

"There were flags along Montgomery Blvd., and up along the steps to the Mansie, space was roped off for the student body out by the college spring and a flag-decked canopy occupied the side of the cement platform opposite the fountain.

"A few minutes before 12 the president and his party arrived and went directly to Dr. Montgomery's home for a few minutes. Dr. Montgomery with President Harding came down the walk followed by members of the faculty and the President's party including Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Montgomery. As they reached the spring the band played the Star Spangled Banner. Then we sang two verses of America and the invocation was pronounced by Rev. W. P. Aiken, president of the Muskingum Board of "Dr. Montgomery then read a brief sketch of "Why the Board of Muskingum College Presumed to Confer upon America's Most Distinguished Citizen, President Warren Gamaliel Harding, the Degree of Doctor of Laws." President Harding is a graduate of Ohio Central College, which was located at Iberia, Ohio, and which was absorbed by Muskingum. So you see why they "presumed." Hon. C. Ellis Moore, a graduate of Muskingum, presented the president and Dr. Montgomery conferred the degree.

"President Harding then gave a short address. He recalled his own college days when he could get a whole week's board for $1.60. "One thing that helped make it a success was the friendly informal way Mrs. Harding had. She was dressed in a plain, olive, grayish, colored suit with a small, close-fitting hat, and seemed to want to be as inconspicuous as possible.

"As the president and his wife left the Mansie where they had dinner they shook hands with as many as possible. As they came down the steps they both stopped to pet Dr. Montgomery's dog. The dog, however did not seem inclined to receive their favors. Perhaps he's a Democrat.

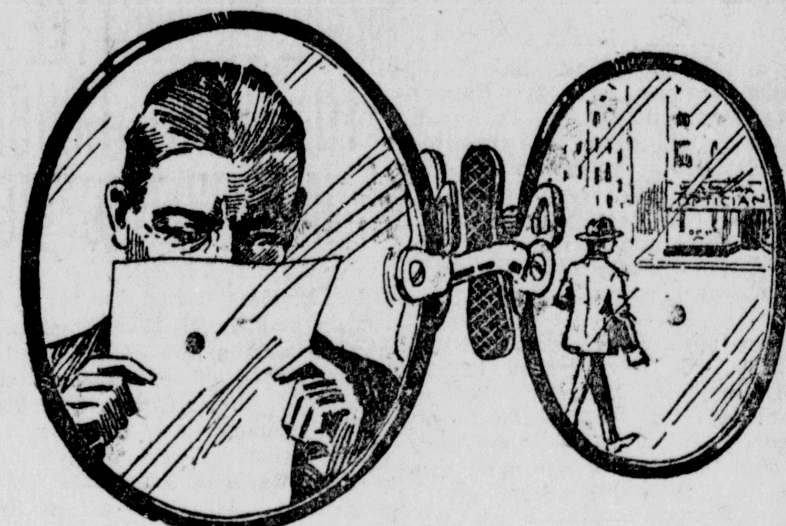

"I was not in the front row so did not get an opportunity to shake hands with the president, but I am ahead of those who did for I reached out and touched his shoulder as he passed, and he laughed and said he was sorry he could not shake hands with everyone."

I detest the busy knockers who have won a punk renown; they are evermore the blockers of all progress in our town. They are out with battle axes and with hammers in their hands, talking of the frightful taxes that town government demands. If we wish to pave an alley or repair the village pump, we behold the knockers rally, and their spokesmen take the stump, and their oratory waxes till the welkin shows a dent, and they yip about our taxes which have risen twelve per cent. Oh, they sound like shilling shockers as they hand out language sour, but the taxes of the knockers wouldn't run the town an hour. Boosters do the heavy paying in the tax collector's lair, and we hear them blithely saying that they still have coin to spare. We will root for any hiker who above his fellows stacks, and that voter is a piker who will beef about his tax." And the knockers, oh, the knockers, they are beeping wildly well; they are sitting in their rockers just before the Stag Hotel; and they ply their verbal axes, and their hammers, rataplan, as they groan about the taxes that they dodge whenever they can.

Indomitable Durant

It is said in automotive circles that W. C. Durant accomplishes what he plans; to him difficulties are so many spurs to greater effort, making one get on the faster.

He is the man who made the Buick. He conceived and organized General Motors, including Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oakland and Oldsmobile. Certainly a considerable monument to one man's tireless energy.

But now, when many men would be content to enjoy a well-earned vacation, he is up to the armpits in the business of launching the crowning effort of his career.

It's "just a real good car," Durant says. "If it's good enough for him to christen with his own name, it's good enough for us," said the trade, and in 141 working days after the announcement they contracted for $31,000,000 worth of Durant cars.

MRS. S. P. GORDON CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Sarah P. Gordon, widow of the late James B. Gordon, passed away at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Nagley, 34 E. Market St., at 7 p. m. Monday.

Although being in frail health for a number of years, she was only confined to her bed one week, death resulting from pneumonia.

She was born in Berkeley Co., West Va., Jan. 15, 1848, thus being 74 years, 7 months and 2 days old. At the age of fifteen she came to Ohio to live with a sister at London, here she became a member of the Methodist Church and remained a Methodist until after her marriage, when she united with the Church of Christ, at Grape Grove, later after the Church of Christ at Gladstone was erected, they transferred their membership there, where they both remained faithful until death. On September 12, 1867, she was united in marriage to James B. Gordon and to them were born five children, all living, they are Mrs. L. A. Larick, Jamestown, Dr. S. E. Gordon, Connorsville, Ind., Mrs. Mattie Carr, Columbus, Mrs. Braden Smith, Jamestown and Mrs. J. Harry Nagley, Xenia. Also six grandchildren. From a family of ten children one sister remains, Mrs. Elizabeth Carter of Columbus, O.

Funeral services will be held at the Church of Christ, at Grape Grove, Thursday at 2 p. m. Burial at Grape Grove Cemetery on the family lot.

Friends may call to view the remains at her late residence from 2 to 4 Wednesday p. m.

WELL KNOWN XENIA RESIDENT IS DEAD

After an illness, from which she had suffered for the past two months, Miss Henrietta Krepps, 85, well known resident of Xenia, died at her home on North King street, Monday evening, at 5:10 o'clock. Death was caused by a complication of diseases.

Miss Krepps, who was eighty five years of age on the twenty-ninth day of last August, was born near Trebeins, the daughter of George and Nancy Baughman Krepps, well known Greene County residents.

Miss Krepps had resided in Greene County all of her life, and lived in Xenia for the past thirty years.

She was the last member of her immediate family, her sister, Mrs. W. L. Fulkerson, preceding her in death seven weeks ago, to the day. A number of nieces and nephews survive.

Miss Krepps was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of this city, and was prominent in the work of the Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of that church, and of the W. C. T. U.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home Thursday morning at ten o'clock, with interment at Woodland Cemetery.

TUT JACKSON MATCHED TO BOX WILLS IN BROOKLYN

Washington, C. H., July 18.—Billy Palmer, manager of Tut Jackson, 21 year old negro heavyweight of this city, received a telegram from New York stating that Harry Wills, Negro heavyweight champion, had signed up to meet Jackson in a 15-round decision bout in Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, Aug. 8.

It is understood that already there have been some bets posted in New York, stating that Harry Wills, Negro heavyweight champion, had signed up a decision bout in Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, August 8.

It is understood that already there have been some bets posted in New York at even money on Jackson. Tut will go into intensive training at the ball park, this city, in a few days and about August 1, will leave for New York. Wills weighs 240 and Jackson 200 pounds. Jackson was to have met Jack Johnson in a 12 round bout here July 4, but the fight was knocked out by a decision of Judge Reid.

CAMPAIGNS COUNTY FOR KNIGHT; VISITS IN XENIA

"It looks good for Knight," declared J. F. Finnerty, of Akron, one of the 88 citizens of that place who volunteered their services to tour the state by auto for Charles L. Knight, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

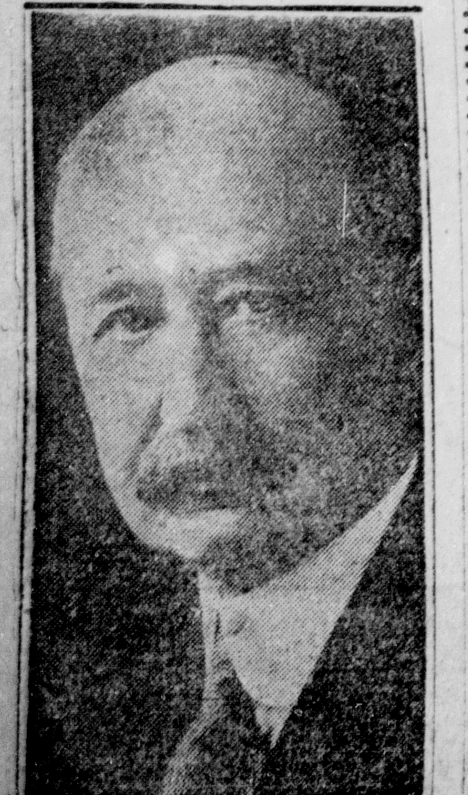

Mr. Finnerty and his banner bedecked automobile reached Xenia yesterday afternoon. He declared he finds the sentiment favorable to Mr. Knight growing rapidly. He will remain here until this afternoon.

PAINS ACROSS SMALL OF BACK

Husband Helped in Housework.—
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Strong

Foster, Oregon.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains across the small of my back. They bothered me so badly that I could do my work only with the help of my husband. One day he saw the 'ad.' in our paper telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing for women, so I began to take it. It has helped me wonderfully. I am feeling fine, do all my housework and washing for seven in the family. I have been irregular too, and now am all right. I am telling my friends what it has done for me and am sure it will do good for others. You can use this letter as a testimonial. I will stand up for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound any time."—Mrs. Wm. Juhnke, Foster, Oregon.

Doing the housework for a family of seven is some task. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

IT STARTED SOMETHING

"I have not said anything to you, but have been saying to others and have induced many to take your medicine and be convinced. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is correctly named. It removed stuff from me I never thought could be in a human being and I feel like a different person. The pain in my right side disappeared at once, which four doctors said would require an operation; also the bloating and indigestion." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill and druggists everywhere.

WELL KNOWN XENIA RESIDENT IS DEAD

After an illness, from which she had suffered for the past two months, Miss Henrietta Krepps, 85, well known resident of Xenia, died at her home on North King street, Monday evening, at 5:10 o'clock. Death was caused by a complication of diseases.

Miss Krepps, who was eighty five years of age on the twenty-ninth day of last August, was born near Trebeins, the daughter of George and Nancy Baughman Krepps, well known Greene County residents. Miss Krepps had resided in Greene County all of her life, and lived in Xenia for the past thirty years.

She was the last member of her immediate family, her sister, Mrs. W. L. Fulkerson, preceding her in death seven weeks ago, to the day. A number of nieces and nephews survive.

Miss Krepps was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of this city, and was prominent in the work of the Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of that church, and of the W. C. T. U.

TUT JACKSON MATCHED TO BOX WILLS IN BROOKLYN

Washington, C. H., July 18.—Billy Palmer, manager of Tut Jackson, 21 year old negro heavyweight of this city, received a telegram from New York stating that Harry Wells, Negro heavyweight champion, had signed up to meet Jackson in a 15-round decision bout in Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, Aug. 8.

It is understood that already there have been some bets posted in New York, stating that Harry Wells, Negro heavyweight champion, had signed up a decision bout in Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, August 8.

It is understood that already there have been some bets posted in New York at even money on Jackson. Tut will go into intensive training at the ball park, this city, in a few days and about August 1, will leave for New York. Wells weighs 240 and Jackson 200 pounds. Jackson was to have met Jack Johnson in a 12 round bout here July 4, but the fight was knocked out by a decision of Judge Reid.

CAMPAIGNS COUNTY FOR KNIGHT; VISITS IN XENIA

"It looks good for Knight," declared J. F. Finnerty, of Akron, one of the 88 citizens of that place who volunteered their services to tour the state by auto for Charles L. Knight, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Mr. Finnerty and his banner bedecked automobile reached Xenia yesterday afternoon. He declared he finds the sentiment favorable to Mr. Knight growing rapidly. He will remain here until this afternoon.

PAINS ACROSS SMALL OF BACK

Husband Helped in Housework.—
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable
Compound Made Her Strong

Foster, Oregon.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains across the small of my back. They bothered me so badly that I could do my work only with the help of my husband. One day he saw the 'ad.' in our paper telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing for women, so I began to take it. It has helped me wonderfully. I am feeling fine, do all my housework and washing for seven in the family. I have been irregular too, and now am all right. I am telling my friends what it has done for me and am sure it will do good for others. You can use this letter as a testimonial. I will stand up for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound any time."—Mrs. Wm. JUNKER, Foster, Oregon.

Doing the housework for a family of seven is some task. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

IT STARTED SOMETHING

"I have not said anything to you, but have been saying to others and have induced many to take your medicine and be convinced. May's Wonderful Remedy is correctly named. It removed stuff from me I never thought could be in a human being and I feel like a different person. The pain in my right side disappeared at once, which four doctors said would require an operation; also the bloating and indigestion." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill and druggists everywhere.

FORMER PREACHER SOBS AS SENTENCE IS PRONOUNCED

celve about $3.50 a week from the county according to Judge Marshall whereas a penitentiary sentence would mean that the family would only receive $2.50 a week.

Following the sentence Culp was allowed to see his wife and children for the first time since his return to Xenia, in a room off the court room. Here he spent 15-minutes with his family, crying and sobbing and begging for the forgiveness of his wife. Mrs. Culp expressed her willingness to forgive her erring husband. The children cried and clung to him and didn't want to see him taken away at the expiration of his visit. Culp was taken to the Dayton Work House Tuesday afternoon to begin his sentence.

The former preacher arrived in Xenia at 5:05 o'clock Sunday evening, in company with Probation Officer J. E. Watts, coming here from Dayton on the last leg of the trip from Port Huron, Michigan, near where, at Tashmoo Park, he was apprehended and placed under arrest. A small crowd was on hand at the station to greet the returned preacher, some of them his former parishioners at Spring Valley.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Day, awaited the coming of the probation officer and his prisoner and hurriedly bundled them into an automobile and drove them to the county jail where Culp was locked up for the night. He smiled at his wife and children, who were brought here in a neighbor's automobile and were at the station to greet him and waved to them with his manacled hands from the rear of the automobile. A number of people anxious to get a glimpse of the preacher were at the jail to see him taken in. There was no demonstration.

Although Culp was forbidden to see or talk to his family, newspaper people interviewed the former preacher in his cell at the jail Monday night. "I have changed my mind," said Culp then. "I am willing to go back to my wife and children if they will let me. My wife looked better to me when I saw her this evening than she ever did before. They've got her dressed differently. I never could get her to dress up."

Culp said his wife got the children ready for Sunday School but that he helped to keep them neat and even designed and made some of their clothes. He loves his wife only as the mother of his children, he said. Asked if he would give up the Hughes girl, he said, "I'll have to give her up." Culp said his wife had ordered him away from home and that he intended to go alone but that the Hughes girl insisted on accompanying him. He said he offered her the opportunity to return from Chicago and again from Detroit but that she refused.

If he would be permitted to go free Culp said he would not again enter the ministry, because it does not pay enough to support a large family. He said he is a paper hanger but that that work is hard on the nerves. He also said he is a good cabinet maker and for two weeks while on his elopement trip worked at the Hartman Furniture Company in Chicago. It was there he traded in his automobile for room rent and fearful that his identity would be traced through the Ohio license plates, left there for Detroit. Until that time he said he had used his own name, and that the Hughes girl signed her name as Mary Esther Hughes. He admitted they took the name of Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin at Tashmoo Park, but admitting that they lived together said that nothing improper took place. He knew the authorities were looking for him but did not see any papers until after his arrest. Culp had been informed that T. J. Hughes, father of the girl, intends to prosecute him under the Mann Act. He said Hughes made some false statements in regard to an affair with another girl and that he challenged the world to prove that statement. At his own request the newspaper men furnished him with paper on which he wrote the story of his life. His own story follows:

"I was born near Teegarden, Ind., Nov. 23, 1887, and lived near Wakarusa, Ind., until I was 11 years of age. At that time my younger brother and three sisters were sent from home to an orphan's home near Orrville, Ohio. We were there two months and taken to Missouri homes near Garden City in Cass County. I failed to get a good home as far as home care was concerned. They wanted me for the labor they could get out of me. I worked with a team every day in the fields as many hours as the man who raised me did and I had to work when they went to town. The spending money I got in seven years did not exceed 50 cents which I spent for crayons. I was not allowed to eat sometimes until my hunger was satisfied even though working hard. Was subject to much headache in my teens but had to work hard even though sick and did not get a doctor's care for anything not even a cracked shoulder. I was lonely for my parents all those years and had to go home on Sundays to care for stock when the remainder of the family went visiting. As I would ride horseback along the dusty road in the hot sun I would think of mother many miles away and cry until the tears would stream down onto the horses back. I was homesick all the time until at the age of eighteen I returned home to Indiana. I looked for a HOME of my own and my father advised me to go with Mary Hughes (my wife) as she seemed to be a good farmer girl the only girl in the home. I did not love her and broke with her many times in the six months' courtship as folks claimed she was not bright. I did not believe that and thought she was being abused by the public. So at my father's advice I married her anyway on April 6, 1907. I was tempted to leave her the first summer of my marriage but did not and when the children were born I seemed to want to stay with her on account of them. In February, 1910, I was converted and entered the ministry on May 11, 1911, and ordained in March, 1915 in the Mennonite Brethren in Christ Church which I serve for ten years, during which time I faithfully prayed and pled with my wife to become a Christian but she would not and folks everywhere I went, would talk about her and say she wasn't bright, as she is very ignorant in many ways. (I say this with all respect to her as she cannot help it.) She was an embittered man in many ways. When we moved to Ohio I became acquainted with Esther Hughes and loved her dearly from the start but did not tell her until later and when I did she confessed her love for me which has held ever since. Wife helped make our arrangements to get Esther to say with us this summer so I could have her near. But things did not turn out congenial and she ordered us away. Before Esther came she told me I should go. That was on Jan'y 2, last. She would curse when she got angry at Esther and me. We prayed that the Lord would save her soul and take her to heaven if we could not live happy together so Esther and I might marry. This angered wife until she told us to go. I realize it was a mistake to go and will do all I can to mend matters as I thought this evening when I came from the R. R. Station she looked better than usual. If given my wife and children I will prove to the world I can be a true husband and father to them. I never saw many of the things concerning my wife which some of the newspapers have published in the last few days. Most of the reports concerning my past career are untrue, which are now being used to try to condemn me. Every conference of the Mennonite Church passed me a good recommendation to any place a year ago last March voted me a good recommendation to any church I wished to go as their conference minutes will show. I cannot help that I loved and do love Esther and don't think she can help it. She had the choice of going home to her parents or with me when I left and any time since if she wished to go. I gave her the choice and she chose to go with me and helped pay the expenses of the travels which she chose to do. Kindness has always won me to the right and will again. I expect it, from the Christian world at least if they follow the teachings of the Master as given in Matt. 6:14-15; and Luke 10:30-37. Will the world forgive and let me try again? or must I be cuffed some more. I am at your mercy for justice.

Efficient Housekeeping

ANSWERED LETTERS

Mrs. H.: "I want to tell other women about the way I can beets: Cook small red beets in the ordinary way till done, and when cool enough to handle, peel and pack in hot jars, then cover with a thin sirup made of one pint of granulated sugar and one pint of vinegar. This amount of sirup is enough for four quart jars. Seal airtight and store."

Answer: Thank you, Reader Friend. We are always glad to know about other women's successful ways.

Mable: "We think of building our own home and would like suggestions from you regarding plans."

Answer: Write to me again, send a stamped and self-addressed envelope, and I will gladly send you the name and address of a publisher from whom you can buy, by mail, a splendid little book (very inexpensive) about building houses. This book contains plans for all kinds of small homes—Colonial type, Dutch type, English type, houses of tile and stucco, semi-bungalow type, seashore bungalows, and country homes.

Bride: "I would give anything I have for knitting directions for the new 'Alpha' Sweater. Could you please print them?"

Answer: I am so glad to be able to grant your wish. The following directions are for size 36 to 38 (if you are 40 or 42 bust, you will have to cast on 72 stitches and enlarge these directions throughout.)

Knitting Directions for the new "Alpha Sweater": 3 balls Shetland Floss, 1 pair ten-inch knitting needles No. 3, 1 pair ten-inch knitting needles No. 5, and one pair of very heavy wood needles.

Abbreviations are: K for "knit"; P for "purl"; and "Sts." for Stitches. 1:—On No. 5 needles cast on 60 sts. 2:—K 2, P 2, for 14 rows. 3:—On No. 3 needles K 2, P 2, for five rows. 4:—On No. 3 needles K plain for six rows. 5:—On No. 3 needles K across and P back for 6 rows. 6:—On No. 5 needles K across and P back for six rows. 7:—On large needles K across and P back for 22 rows. 8:—On No. 5 needles K across and P back for one-half inch. 9:—On No. 3 needles K plain for 30 sts. (One half way cross bek.) Knit bek, then narrow, taking first two sts. together at the front each time you start from there, until you have 20 sts. left on the needle—which means you have knitted ten ridges. 10:—On No. 5 needles widen to 30 sts, gradually widening as you narrow (on ridges), then K across and P back for one-half inch. 11:—On large needles continue down front, making opening as deep as desired (about ten rows). K other front to this point, then place all sts. on one needle and finish in design and length to match back. 12:—Sleeve—On large needles, pick up 26 sts. for armholes, and knit length required (about 29 rows); finish with cuff in design of bottom of sweater, increasing cuffs to 34 sts. (No neck bound off in this sweater.) In picking up stitches, use the tiny needles, then put the big ones in and take out the small ones.

Tomorrow—Baking in Your Fireless Cooker.

There was a young clerk in the office where Cora worked, a rather serious good-looking chap, faithful to his work, but who, while pleasant enough, never had much to say to anyone.

But, after Cora came there was a change in William Dalton. He often chatted a few moments with her, occasionally went out of his way to walk to the subway with her. He lived with his mother over in Jersey, he told her. His mother was an invalid.

When Cora objected to his going out of his way, he said:

"The exercise is good for me," so, as she enjoyed his company, the girl said no more. Then one day he rather shyly asked her if he might take her to the movies some night. "I stay in town occasionally, and if you would go I should be very pleased."

His invitation was rather stilted, but Cora felt it was from a sort of bashfulness, a fear she might refuse. So she replied:

"I shall be very glad to go. I don't get so many invitations that I dare refuse to go with you, William."

They settled upon the night, and parted, both wearing a happy expression.

Cora told the girls of her promised treat.

"I knew it! I knew we couldn't hold that wild Cora back if she ever started!" Nellie exclaimed with one of her comical expressions. "Orange blossoms are my favorite flower, and seeing as how I never expect to wear them myself I'll spend half a week's salary buying them for you. And how I love weddings! I sneaked into one at the Corners. Miss Carter was looking all over for me, but she never thought of looking in the church. Will you be married in church, Cora?"

"What a nonsense you talk, Nellie!" but Cora blushed and Nellie kept on teasing. Then seeing she was really annoying Cora, she threw her arms around her neck and begged her pardon. But she couldn't resist saying: "Better lock him up, Cora. Gladys or I might steal him. Beaux aren't so plenty around here as they might be."

"She's in no danger from me, but she better look out for you, you little minx!" Gladys answered.

When they had quieted Gladys told them of a girl in the office where she worked, a girl who foolishly had be-

"What do you think of it, Cora—his asking her to dinner?" Gladys asked. The two girls talked in low voices. Nellie was asleep. "She's so pretty."

"That's the trouble. She's too pretty for a working girl—a girl without any home but this. Yet I don't believe God ever meant beauty to be a hindrance in any way. If he had thought it would be, he would not have given it to anyone," Cora returned. Then: "Nellie has very good principles. Sometimes I wonder where she got them—a drunken step-father, a coarse common mother, and Miss Carter. Poor child! Not many girls would show as much character."

"Perhaps her own father was different—or someone back in his family," Gladys replied.

"Perhaps, but I hope Mr. Robinson won't ask her to go out with him again. It seems innocent enough—he must have had a good laugh at Nellie's nonsense, yet I can't help feeling uneasy when she does such things. How she did enjoy her dinner," Cora smiled reminiscently.

"No wonder! I guess we would have liked such a dinner too," Gladys sighed. Both girls would have enjoyed that dinner.

There was a young clerk in the office where Cora worked, a rather serious good-looking chap, faithful to his work, but who, while pleasant enough, never had much to say to anyone.

When they had quieted Gladys told them of a girl in the office where she worked, a girl who foolishly had become acquainted with a man by flirting with him on the subway. He had taken her out of the office, installed her in a little flat, and promised to marry her. A few days before he had married a society girl, church wedding, reception and all. The papers had all carried notices of the wedding, and Lena Goodrich had seen them. That day she had come back to ask for her old job.

"She's just a shadow, looks as if she wouldn't live long. I guess she was awful fond of the fellow. She told the girl she used to chum with, that the very night before he was married, he had renewed his promise to marry her. But the strange part is that while she despises him for his deceit, for what he has done to her, she says she can't help loving him—can't help longing for him," he sent her a big check but she sent it back with the key to the flat. Then she went back to the cheap boarding house where she had lived before. She told Lottie she never would see or speak to him again, but it hurt her dreadfully.

Nellie had listened wide-eyed, her breath coming quickly.

"I may be a little fool, but I'd never have lived in that flat until the minister had made it right. I heard too much about those kind of men from those traveling fellows at Miss Carter's."

FORMER PREACHER SOBS AS SENTENCE IS PRONOUNCED

ceive about $3.50 a week from the county according to Judge Marshall whereas a penitentiary sentence would mean that the family would only receive $2.50 a week.

Following the sentence Culp was allowed to see his wife and children for the first time since his return to Xenia, in a room off the court room. Here he spent 15-minutes with his family, crying and sobbing and begging for the forgiveness of his wife. Mrs. Culp expressed her willingness to forgive her erring husband. The children cried and clung to him and didn't want to see him taken away at the expiration of his visit. Culp was taken to the Dayton Work House Tuesday afternoon to begin his sentence.

The former preacher arrived in Xenia at 5:05 o'clock Monday evening, in company with Probation Officer J. E. Watts, coming here from Dayton on the last leg of the trip from Port Huron, Michigan, near where, at Tashmoo Park, he was apprehended with the Hughes girl last Friday and placed under arrest. A small crowd was on hand at the station to greet the returned preacher, some of them his former parishioners at Spring Valley.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Day, awaited the coming of the probation officer and his prisoner and hurriedly bundled them into an automobile and drove them to the county jail where Culp was locked up for the night. He smiled at his wife and children, who were brought here in a neighbor's automobile and were at the station to greet him, and waved to them with his manacled hands from the rear of the automobile. A number of people anxious to get a glimpse of the preacher were at the jail to see him taken in. There was no demonstration.

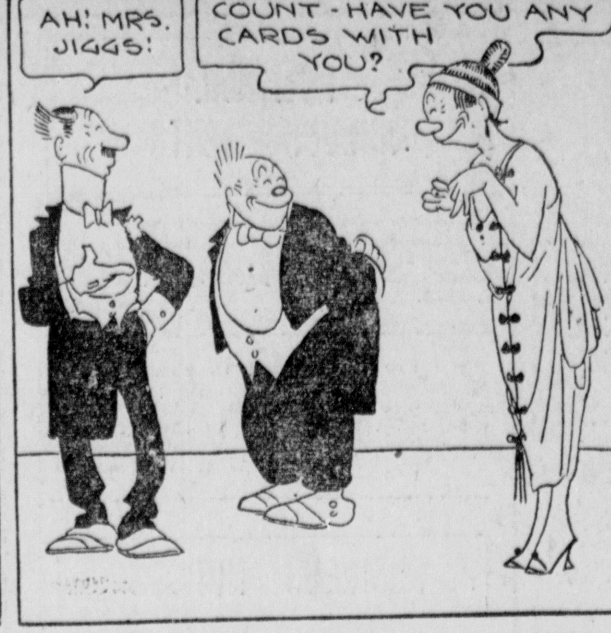

Although Culp was forbidden to see or talk to his family, newspaper people interviewed the former preacher in his cell at the jail Monday night. "I have changed my mind," said Culp then. "I am willing to go back to my wife and children if they will let me. My wife looked better to me when I saw her this evening than she ever did before. They've got her dressed differently. I never could get her to dress up."

Culp said his wife got the children ready for Sunday School but that he helped to keep them neat and even designed and made some of their clothes. He loves his wife only as the mother of his children, he said. Asked if he would give up the Hughes girl, he said, "I'll have to give her up." Culp said his wife had ordered him away from home and that he intended to go alone but that the Hughes girl insisted on accompanying him. He said he offered her the opportunity to return from Chicago and again from Detroit but that she refused.

If he would be permitted to go free Culp said he would not again enter the ministry, because it does not pay enough to support a large family. He said he is a paper banger but that that work is hard on the nerves. He also said he is a good cabinet maker and for two weeks while on his elopement trip worked at the Hartman Furniture Company in Chicago. He said he traded in his automobile for room rent and feared that his identity would be traced through the Ohio license plates, left there for Detroit. Until that time he said he had used his own name, and that the Hughes girl signed her name as Mary Esther Hughes. He admitted they took the name of Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin at Tashmoo Park, but admitting that they lived together said that nothing improper took place. He knew the authorities were looking for him but did not see any papers until after his arrest. Culp had been informed that T. J. Hughes, father of the girl, intends to prosecute him under the Mann Act. He said Hughes made some false statements in regard to an affair with another girl and that he challenged the world to prove that statement. At his own request the newspaper men furnished him with paper on which he wrote the story of his life. His own story follows:

"I was born near Teegarden, Ind., Nov. 23, 1887, and lived near Wakarusa, Ind., until I was 11 years of age. At that time my younger brother and three sisters were sent from home to an orphan's home near Orrville, Ohio. We were there two months and taken to Missouri homes near Garden City in Cass County. I failed to get a good home as far as home care was concerned. They wanted me for the labor they could get out of me. I worked with a team every day in the fields as many hours as the man who raised me did and I had to work when they went to town. The spending money I got in seven years did not exceed 50 cents which I spent for crayons. I was not allowed to eat sometimes until my hunger was satisfied even though working hard. Was subject to much headache in my teens but had to work hard even though sick and did not get a doctor's care for anything not even a cracked shoulder. I was lonely for my parents all those years and had to go home on Sundays to care for stock when the remainder of the family went visiting. As I would ride horseback along the dusty road in the hot sun I would think of mother many miles away and cry until the tears would stream down onto the horses back. I was homesick all the time until at the age of eighteen I returned home to Indiana. I longed for a HOME of my own and my father advised me to go with Mary Hughes (my wife) as she seemed to be a good farmer girl the only girl in the home. I did not love her and broke with her many times in the six months' courtship as folks claimed she was not bright. I did not believe that and thought she was being abused by the public. So at my father's advice I married her

Mrs. H.: "I want to tell other women about the way I can beets: Cook small red beets in the ordinary way till done, and when cool enough to handle, peel and pack in hot jars, then cover with a thin sirup made of one pint of granulated sugar and one pint of vinegar. This amount of sirup is enough for four quart jars. Seal airtight and store."

Answer: Thank you, Reader Friend. We are always glad to know about other women's successful ways.

Mable: "We think of building our own home and would like suggestions from you regarding plans."

Answer: Write to me again, sending a stamped and self-addressed envelope, and I will gladly send you the name and address of a publisher from whom you can buy, by mail, a splendid little book (very inexpensive) about building houses. This book contains plans for all kinds of small homes—Colonial type, Dutch type, English type, houses of tile and stucco, semi-bungalow type, seashore bungalows, and country homes.

Bride: "I would give anything I like for knitting directions for the new 'Alpha' Sweater. Could you please print them?"

Answer: I am so glad to be able to grant your wish. The following directions are for size 36 to 38 (if you are a 40 or 42 bust, you will have to cast on 72 stitches and enlarge these dimensions throughout.)

Knitting Directions for the new "Alpha Sweater": 3 balls Shetland Floss, 1 pair ten-inch knitting needles No. 3, 1 pair ten-inch knitting needles No. 5, and one pair of very heavy wood needles.

Abbreviations are: K for "knit"; P for "purl"; and "Sts." for Stitches. 1:—On No. 5 needles cast on 60 sts. 2:—K 2, P 2, for 14 rows. 3:—On No. 3 needles K 2, P 2, for five rows. 4:—On No. 3 needles K plain for six rows. 5:—On No. 3 needles K across and P back for 6 rows. 6:—On No. 5 needles K across and P back for six rows. 7:—On large needles K across and P back for 22 rows. 8:—On No. 5 needles K across and P back for one-half inch. 9:—On No. 3 needles K plain for 30 sts. (One half way cross bek.) Knit back, then narrow, taking first two sts. together at the front each time you start from there, until you have 20 sts. left on the needle—which means you have knitted ten ridges. 10:—On No. 5 needles widen to 30 sts, gradually widening as you narrow (ten ridges), then K across and P back for one-half inch. 11:—On large needles continue down front, making opening as deep as desired (about ten rows.) K other front to this point, then place all sts. on one needle and finish in design and length to match back. 12:—Sleeve—On large needles, pick up 26 sts. for armholes, and knit length required (about 29 rows); finish with cuff in design of bottom of sweater, increasing cuffs to 34 sts. (No neck bound off in this sweater.) In picking up stitches, use the tiny needles, then put the big ones in and take out the small ones.

A Stenographer's Romance

BY JANE PHLEPS

LENA GOODRICH'S STORY
CHAPTER 20

"What do you think of it, Cora—his asking her to dinner?" Gladys asked. The two girls talked in low voices. Nellie was asleep. "She's so pretty!"

"That's the trouble. She's too pretty for a working girl—a girl without any home but this. Yet I don't believe God ever meant beauty to be a hindrance in any way. If He had thought it would be, He would not have given it to anyone," Cora returned. Then: "Nellie has very good principles. Sometimes I wonder where she got them—a drunken step-father, a coarse common mother, and Miss Carter. Poor child! Not many girls would show as much character."

"Perhaps her own father was different—or someone back in his family," Gladys replied.

"Perhaps, but I hope Mr. Robinson won't ask her to go out with him again. It seems innocent enough—he must have had a good laugh at Nellie's nonsense, yet I can't help feeling uneasy when she does such things. How she did enjoy her dinner," Cora smiled reminiscently.

"No wonder! I guess we would have liked such a dinner too," Gladys sighed. Both girls would have enjoyed that dinner.

There was a young clerk in the office where Cora worked, a rather serious good-looking chap, faithful to his work, but who, while pleasant enough, never had much to say to anyone.

But after Cora came there was a change in William Dalton. He often chatted a few moments with her, occasionally went out of his way to walk to the subway with her. He lived with his mother over in Jersey, he told her. His mother was an invalid.

When Cora objected to his going out of his way, he said:

"The exercise is good for me," so, as she enjoyed his company, the girl said no more. Then one day he rather shyly asked her if he might take her to the movies some night. "I stay in town occasionally, and if you would go I should be very pleased."

His invitation was rather stilted, but Cora felt it was from a sort of bashfulness, a fear she might refuse. So she replied:

"I shall be very glad to go. I don't get so many invitations that I dare refuse to go with you, William."

They settled upon the night, and parted, both wearing a happy expression.

Cora told the girls of her promised treat.

"I knew it! I knew we couldn't hold that wild Cora back if she ever started!" Nellie exclaimed with one of her comical expressions. "Orange blossoms are my favorite flower, and seeing as how I never expect to wear them myself I'll spend half a week's salary buying them for you. And how I love weddings! I sneaked into one at the Corners. Miss Carter was looking all over for me, but she never thought of looking in church, Cora?"

"What a nonsense you talk, Nellie!" but Cora blushed and was really teasing. Then seeing she was really teasing Cora, she threw her arms around her neck and begged her pardon. But she couldn't resist saying: "Better look him up, Cora. Gladys or I might steal him. Beaux aren't so plenty around here as they might be."

"She's in no danger from me, but she better look out for you, you little minx!" Gladys answered.

When they had quieted Gladys told them of a girl in the office where she worked, a girl who foolishly had become acquainted with a man by flirting with him on the subway. He had taken her out of the office, installed her in a little flat, and promised to marry her. A few days before he had married a society girl, church wedding, reception and all. The papers had all carried notices of the wedding, and Lena Goodrich had seen them. That day she had come back to ask for her old job.

"She's just a shadow, looks as if she wouldn't live long. I guess she was awful fond of the fellow. She told the girl she used to chum with, that the very night before he was married, he had renewed his promise to marry her. But the strange part is that while she despises him for his deceit, for what he has done to her, she says she can't help loving him—can't help longing for him." He sent her a big check but she sent it back with the key to the flat. Then she went back to the cheap boarding house where she had lived before. She told Lottie she never would see or speak to him again, but it hurt her dreadfully.

Nellie had listened wide-eyed, her breath coming quickly.

"I may be a little fool, but I'd never have lived in that flat until the minister had made it right I heard too much about those kind of men, from those traveling fellows at Miss Carter's."

Tomorrow—A Saturday Night Beau.
